

On-Site Camping

Further to recent correspondence from Shoalhaven City Council, we take this opportunity to inform all members and patrons that onsite camping or dwelling at the venue is no longer permitted under any circumstance.

Camping or dwelling on site is in breach of the development consent of the property and cannot be permitted until a development application is submitted for this activity.

Our compliance to the development approval process and council regulations are integral in keeping the venue open, so we thank you for your understanding in this matter.
